We developed the M.A.G.I.C project to share and exchange coaching and mentoring tools that have been successfully used in work with young people. To ensure a holistic and complex approach, we based our training on the Dilts pyramid, which claims that every situation can be viewed, analysed and solved on different levels and, depending on it, with different outcomes. During the described project we will learn specific tools to work on each of the levels identified by Dilts:

Each day of the training will be dedicated to one of the levels described above. We will learn specific, tangible, but also diverse coaching/mentoring tools to work on each level, exploring not only methods based on conversation, but also those which include art, connection with nature and physical movement.

We are looking for 24 active youth workers (mentors, coaches, project coordinators, educators, or community leaders) who are directly involved with young people and are eager to deepen their supporting skills and are from Italy, Spain, Poland, Bulgaria, Romania, Greece, Croatia or Slovenia.

This training is for you if you:

- Work with youth and want practical coaching and mentoring tools for everyday practice.
- Are interested in a holistic approach to personal and professional growth, including the Dilts Pyramid (from environment to mission).
- Are open to diverse methods such as dialogue, art, movement, and nature-based learning.
- Enjoy learning through exchange, sharing your experience while exploring new ideas.
- Have a communicative level of English and can actively participate.
- Can commit to all project phases, including preparation and follow-up.
